
By Larry Morris—The Washington Post

TRIP PROTEST — J. B. Stoner, right, leader of the National States Rights Party, and two other persons carry the party flag in Lafayette Park in front of the White House to protest President Nixon's trip to Mainland China. Stoner, who describes himself as a white raicst, said the journey to China "may be a political victory for Nixon but it is a disaster for the United States. Nixon the conservative has turned out to be more pro-Communist than any other liberal president."